

	Will user know what to do?	Will user see how to do it?	Will user understand the feedback they got?
Scenario 1: Logging Mood	Yes: There is a plus button at bottom of screen that user will know is for logging their mood	Yes: the questions are displayed clear on the page	Yes: the home page shows that your mood has been logged No: there is no popup or button to save
Scenario2: Checking Statistics	Yes: The navigation menu is clear at bottom of the page	Yes: on the page it is clear what each button does and the graph is straight forward	Yes: the emoji at the bottom makes the average clear
Scenario3: Setting up user profile	Yes: there is an update button	Yes: there are drop down menus and text boxes	Yes: save button at top changes back to update and user can see changes
Scenario4: Meditation Links	Yes: the navigation at bottom of page is clear	Yes: the titles of the videos clear on each image	Yes: will bring user straight to video
Scenario5: Uploading to Clinician's Website	Yes: the upload button is clear on top of mood page	Yes: button is labelled well	Yes: if successful pop tells user it was uploaded